Investors should consider the investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses of an ETF carefully before investing. To obtain a prospectus, or a summary prospectus, if available, that contains this and other information about an ETF, contact your financial professional. ²Portfolio composition is as of 3/31/2025 and is subject to change at any time. ³Credit ratings reflect only those assigned by S&P, Moody's, and/or Fitch. Split-rated securities if any, are reported in the higher rating category. ⁴Bond ratings reflect the rating entity's evaluation of the issuer's ability to pay interest and repay principal on the bond on a timely basis. Bonds rated BBB/Baa or higher are considered investment grade, while bonds rated BB/Ba or lower are considered speculative as to the timely payment of interest and principal. ⁵Source: Mellon Investments Corporation.

ETF shares are listed on an exchange, and shares are generally purchased and sold in the secondary market at market price. At times, the market price may be at a premium or discount to the ETF's per share NAV. In addition, ETFs are subject to the risk that an active trading market for an ETF's shares may not develop or be maintained. Buying or selling ETF shares on an exchange may require the payment of brokerage commissions.

Market Price is the most recent NYSE Arca Official Closing Price. Weighted Average Maturity is a measure of the average maturity of all of the underlying security instruments in the fund, weighted to reflect the relative percentage ownership of each instrument, and taking into account applicable "maturity shortening" provisions. Weighted Average Life Maturity is the Weighted Average Maturity of the fund calculated without reference to the "maturity shortening" provisions. SEC 30-day yield is based upon dividends per share from net investment income during the past 30 days, divided by the period ended maximum offering price per share and annualized. Premium/Discount Shareholders may pay more than net asset value when they buy Fund shares and receive less than net asset value when they sell those shares, because shares are bought and sold at current market prices.

20-Day Average Volume is the sum of last 20 days of trading volume divided by 20 days. 30-Day Median Bid-Ask Spread gives investors the midpoint within the spread between an ETF's selling price and buying price. It is calculated over the last 30 days in 10 second intervals by dividing the difference between the bid (sell price) and offer (buy price) by the midpoint of the National Best Bid Offer (NBBO) and identifying the median of those values. Tracking error is a measure of the unexplained portion of a portfolio's performance relative to a benchmark. It's essentially the standard deviation of the difference between the portfolio's returns and the selected benchmark's returns. A low tracking error indicates that a fund tracks the benchmark closely or, in other words, has approximately the same returns as the benchmark.

Risks: Bonds are subject generally to interest-rate, credit, liquidity, call and market risks, to varying degrees. Generally, all other factors being equal, bond prices are inversely related to interest-rate changes and rate increases can cause price declines. The risks of investing in this ETF, typically reflect the risks associated with the types of instruments in which the ETFs invest. ETFs trade like stocks, are subject to investment risk, including possible loss of principal.

The fund will issue (or redeem) fund shares to certain institutional investors known as "Authorized Participants" (typically market makers or other broker-dealers) only in large blocks of fund shares known as "Creation Units."
